

TRANSDISCIPLINARY CONFERENCE

Human Distinctiveness: Wisdom's Deep Evolution

6–9 July 2017 LONDON

How can we understand the human capacity for wisdom, where did it come from, and how did it emerge?

The conference is the culmination of a transdisciplinary research project between theology and evolutionary anthropology investigating the basic parameters of the evolutionary origins of human wisdom. This conference will examine ways of assessing and measuring the development of a distinctively human capacity for wisdom and explore how the integration of theological approaches might shape, facilitate, and change how questions about human wisdom are answered.

for detailed conference information ctshf.nd.edu

Registration

- Early bird registration runs through 31 May
 - Early Bird General Registration – $100
 - Early Bird Graduate Student – $50
 - General Registration (after June 1) – $150
 - Graduate Student (after June 1) – $100

Speakers include:

Tim Ingold
Wentzel van Huyssteen
Fiona Coward
Niels Gregersen
Maureen Junker-Kenny

Jennifer French
Karen Kilby
Jeremy Kendal
Aku Visala

Cueva de las Manos, Lisa Weichel CC BY 2.0